January 2017 Bulletin

Dear Parents & Families,

Welcome to 2017! We begin this new year with lots of hopes, wishes and action steps to set goals and meet them. As we enter our second academic trimester, we take all that we learned from the previous trimester with us as background knowledge to make us stronger.

We have much to celebrate in this academic year. Our students are working toward being analytical beings through their claims evidence and reasoning writing and their inquiry projects in science. Science is such a great intersection of literacy skills, math and engineering. Come in to our science classrooms to see what great things are happening!

Please save the date for our Literacy Night February 17th. This night will be a celebration of our students' writing projects.

Let us know if you have any good ideas for Literacy Night and/or have an opportunity to be a vendor for that day.

With Gratitude,

Gloria Gasca
Principal

Literacy Corner

Thank you for all those families that attended our student led conferences. We appreciate your participation.

During the student led conferences we assisted you with setting goals for your students.

These goals were set in their academic areas as well as their behavior.

Please follow up with your child to see how he/she is progressing in making positive steps toward meeting his/her goal.

Every two weeks we send home your child's progress report and grade reflection. Please make time to review your student's academic standing and set time with your child's teacher to find ways to support your student at home.

Please take the time to purchase a black or navy blue RAINCOAT or WINDBREAKER with a removable hood for your student for this windy season. We understand that with this change in weather it is important to keep our students warm and dry. Please remember that we do not accept any hoods, large logos and only school sweat-shirts are permitted.

Our uniform colors are the following:

6th and 7th– burgundy sweatshirt and navy blue sweatpants
8th– navy blue sweatshirt and navy blue sweatpants

We will make an exception on the jackets for this windy/rainy season but once again they must have a removable hood and be either BLACK or NAVY BLUE. All others will be asked to be removed as they will not be in uniform.
